

Blockquotes

Default blockquote — italic body, indented under a light-grey bar:

| The greatest enemy of knowledge is not ignorance — it is the illusion of knowledge.

Long quotes wrap naturally at the column width:

| When you have eliminated the impossible, whatever remains, however improbable, must be the truth. This is the principle that underlies all reasonable investigation, and it is one that any honest observer will return to repeatedly when the facts begin to seem strange or contradictory.

Override font / colour / alignment via TextStyle (italic stays the default unless you set it explicitly):

| Plain upright body, in a muted colour — sometimes you want the visual signature of a quote without italic.
